

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A diskette type electronic device is attached to a reader/writer for recording and reproducing information on and from an information recording medium provided therein. In the electronic device, a diskette case having a shape substantially identical with a diskette provided with a magnetic disk as the information recording medium. An IC memory is provided as the information recording medium. A communicator communicates information to be recorded on or reproduced from the IC memory with the reader/writer. A detachable power supply unit includes a rechargeable secondary battery which 10 supplies power to the IC memory and the communicator.